

I saw your girl on the train
She wanted me to find you and explain
After many hours I could ascertain
She hates you

She knows how you feel okay
There's really nothing else that you can say
So why don't you hide it away
She hates you

She hates you
But it's not so bad, there's a million girls and a million reasons to try
To forget her
And next time find another girl cause this time you're reaching too high
I hope you work it out but then...

And you'll hear lots of things at work
About how I'm supposed to be some kind of jerk Frankly I don't trust that warehouse clerk
He's a piece of work

She hates you
But it's not so bad, there's a million girls and a million reasons to
try
To forget her
And next time find another girl cause this time you're reaching
too high

There's no need to apprehend
I'll look after her for you my friend
You're not gonna get her in the end
She hates you

With much regret I'll sadly recommend
She hates you
At the start it feels more like the end
She hates you
